New York Camp, C. V., Loses a Wor-Colonel Will Lambert, who is a member of the Confederate Veteran camp of New York, yesterday received the following ancouncement of the death of a worthy comrade of that organization:

"Confederate Veteran Camp of New "Confederate Veteran Camp of New York, October 4, 1587.—It is with regret that I announce the death of our late comrade, W. P. Fowler, formerly of Mobile, Ala., who died Friday, the 1st instant.
"The funeral services will be held at No. 710 Eighth avenue, on Wednesday, the 6th instant. He will be buried in the plot of the camp, at Mount Hope cemetery,
"It is hoped that a large delegation of comrades will attend the services to pay their last tribute to a good soldier. Comrade Fowler enlisted in the Mobile Cadets, April, 1861; later was an officer in the Twenty-fourth Alabama infantry, serving till April, 1865. Yours truly,
"Edward Owen, Adjutant."

Waiting Till Quarantine's Eagle Pass Guide.

The Houston Post sent a couple of pigeons here to their correspondent, Mr. J. C. Jones, and requested that he send message to Houston with them. Last Monday they were given their freedom and lost no time in leaving town. They took the opposite direction at first, but ere they had gone out of sight changed their course and came back. Their first instinct was, of course, to set away from their captivity, so it was thought they would soon take their departure for the east. For two days it was expected that we would hear of tacir arrival in Houston and the message would appear in the columns of The Post, but instead if the Guide had had a little salt to throw on them hast Wednesslay that they might be captured and, the message would appear in this paper. The gentle birds were feeding between the office and the court house as though they had lived here always. Perhaps they will go home as soon as the quarantine is over. and lost no time in leaving town. They

THE DEVIL'S AUCTION.

The bicycle craze is aptly burlesqued and pantomimely illustrated in this year's and pattornimely illustrated in this year's production of Charles H. Yale's #Forever Devil's Auction," and Manager Yale is to be congratulated upon the immediate hit of his successor to his Traffey Carpantomime, which has created no end of laughs the past two or three seasons. The make point in the success of 'The Bleycle Craze' is that it is timely, while the subject itself is treated in such an absurd manner as to prove more than furnly to the most blase theater-goor. It deals with the rather startling and realistic experiences of that gonius home known from Maine to California as the 'Hobo,' in an attempt to secure by fair means or foul a number of the 'Sient steeds," and in their inability to do so, they manufacture a few home-made machines from different articles which are obtained under most trying chromostart to finish with a rush that proves conclusively that the average audience recaptizes and appreciates anything that is novel and timely, and in so doing stamps 2 with the seal of their approval, which means in managerial pariance, capacity at every performance.
